Today's Pediatric Dentistry... Things You Can Use in Your Office Tomorrow

Pearls in Pediatric Dentistry to be Successful and have Fun in Private Practice

Dr. Arnold Weiss has been in the practice of pediatric dentistry for 45 years. Dr. Weiss' dental practice was in Brookline, Massachusetts and was in the top 1/2% of pediatric dental practices in the US. He lectures nationally and internationally, and is an associate clinical professor at Tufts University School of Dental Medicine in the Pediatric Dentistry and the GPR/AEGD programs. Dr. Weiss, served as a member of the AAPD Council on Clinical Affairs for 10 years where he co-wrote the guidelines for Behavior Guidance and Infant and Peri-Natal Oral Health. His techniques in caring for children are unique and extremely successful.

Mastering Behavior Guidance and Restorative Procedures for Pediatric Patients

In this course, designed for dentists and their staff, Dr. Weiss will share pearls of pediatric dentistry wisdom for working with patients from ages 1 to 18 and their parents! Participants will receive updated information on diagnosis and treatment of pediatric procedures, ways to change patient and parent behavior, and much more!

The management of reluctant children, and changing the behavior of obstinate children is essential to accomplish all dental treatment. New methods of managing the child and parent will be presented by lecture and video presentation.

Practical and easily implemented restorative procedures for children are in demand. Dentists and parents are more interested in the newest, best, highly successful restorative materials and techniques. Dr. Weiss will help you increase your expertise in pediatric restorative and pulp therapy, and show you how to be more profitable in everyday dental procedures. This practical course is will make your restorative procedures enjoyable, predictable, and profitable.

Throughout the course, you and your team will learn how to schedule better, communicate with parents and coworkers, and have control of your practice. By the end of the course, participants will see how treating children and teens can be a benefit to their practice! Practitioners are encouraged to bring their whole team. Learn how to work together to treat children, while minimizing work-related stress, and keeping your practice looking great!
